

With all-star weekend being over, this leaves us with the aftermath of another event gone bad. It isn't all of today's athletes, just a few rotten apples that ruin it for the whole bunch. Granted the media likes to point out the bad and only the bad. I try my hardest to try and be fair and equal but this A-HOLE left me no choice. That's right Adam "Pacman" Jones is the deserving recipient. Adam "Pacman" Jones is one of the reason's there is an image problem with today's athletes. You figure that this guy would be grateful that he already is not in jail. He has had two priors that also took place at night clubs. Luckily for him they were both thrown out. Does this guy get it? Maybe "Pacman" and clubs don't mix. Dark liquor and clear liquor don't mix so you won't catch me mixing shots of Hennessy with Grey Goose. His hearing on January 11th of this year that resulted in him being accused of spitting in a girl's face and being charged with misdemeanor assault and a felony count of vandalism were dropped. The two victims did however seek a civil suit against Jones and they settled out of court with the terms not being disclosed. How many chances does Jones get? It seems like this guy won't be satisfied until he actually kills someone.

Judge David Loughry cut Jones a big break. Not only did he dismiss the charges pertaining to the night club incident, he as agreed to clear "Pacman's" record of any wrong doing if "Pacman" can stay out of trouble until July 5th of this year. So you figured after hearing this news Adam "Pacman" Jones would be grateful and try to do his best to stay out of trouble. He decides it would be in his best interest to attend all-star weekend in Sin City. I love his way of thinking, let me go to a strip club with over $80,000 in cash, my posse, who are strapped with guns, and I would be obeying the judges request by "staying out of trouble". He must have failed math, because if you add all of those elements to the equation it equals trouble. The icening on the cake would soon be topped though

Adam "Pacman" Jones decides it would be a good idea to throw $80,000 in cash up in the air at a strip club. Jones became irate about the loss of his money. He claims "it was for a visual effect" If you didn't want to lose 80,000 in cash why in the hell would you throw it up in the air in a strip club of all places? A melee breaks out, three people shot, two are in critical condition and one is going to be paralyzed for life. All because of some A-HOLE decided to act like an animal after he, that's right he Adam "Pacman" Jones became angry after strippers and others started picking up the money. What did you really expect the strippers and others to do "Pacman"? Let's have a little more common sense!!!!

As I was writing this article and awarding "Pacman" my A-HOLE of the week I heard the most ridiculous thing on the radio. I was listening to Steven A. Smith on the radio and he was talking with Max Kellerman about the Felix Trinidad – Oscar De Lay Hoya fight. I am sure everyone has their own opinion about the fight, but what this A-HOLE said was truly stupid. "Oscar didn't win that fight" That was fine, everyone is entitled to their opinion even if it is wrong, but when he said "Oscar won 8 rounds and then he ran the last 4 rounds and that is why he lost". I don't know what world you live in but the one I live in 8 rounds beats 4 rounds.

You must think with your A$$ sometimes

No disrespect but I wonder what you were thinking. I was listening to your show on espnradio on Friday. You came on as Max Kellerman was going off, but you 2 were talking about Oscar-Felix. You had the nerves to say "Oscar didn't win that fight" I may be paraphrasing but you get the gist of it. That was fine, but when you said Oscar won 8 rounds and then he ran the last 4 rounds and that is why he lost. I don't know what world you live in but the one I live in 8 rounds beats 4 rounds. Let's just say for argument sake Felix won those rounds 10-8 (which by the way he didn't, there were no knockdowns) the result on the cards should be a draw. Let's just say Oscar only won 7 rounds, and I am being very generous, he still would have won on points. Fine you said "he ran and didn't deserve to win". Steven to quote you "you have to beat the champion to be the champion" I hear you say and use that phrase frequently. The fight was a unification for the welterweight titles and Oscar had 2 of the belts. Technicality he was the champ, he had 2 out of 3. What in your mind makes you think that Felix won? Especially after you saying Oscar won 8 of the rounds!!! I will leave you with this analogy... Say a football team scores a touchdown on 8 consecutive possessions and their opponents' don't score at all. It is the fourth quarter and the team up 8 touchdowns decides to run the clock out and then punt on 4th down. The other team some how scores 4 touchdowns and then the game ends 56-28. By your idiotic thinking the team with 28 deserves to win. Think about it Steven A. Think about it, you didn't mean what you said did you?
